Merrick & Company offers scholarship at UNM-LA

Merrick & Company is offering a scholarship to high school seniors graduating in 2011 within northern New Mexico. The scholarship is available to students enrolling or enrolled at UNM-Los Alamos, pursuing a Bachelor of Science degree in electrical, mechanical or structural engineering.

Students will be expected to utilize the course offerings at UNM-LA, but may also utilize the campus in Albuquerque as required for their curricula. The scholarship will be renewed each semester as long as the recipient maintains the eligibility requirements. The scholarship covers tuition for a total of eight semesters. Students must enroll in at least 14 credit hours per semester.

Students must be U.S. citizens and have a social security number. Applicants must have a GPA of 3.5 or higher. Students must have a demonstrated record of community service and leadership as well as one high school sponsored athletic achievement to be eligible. Preference is given to applicants in extracurricular activities related to engineering or science.

Students must complete a FAFSA report. Preference will be given to those with demonstrated economic need.

To apply or to learn more, contact UNM-LA Director of Student Services Patricia Boyer at (505) 661-4692.
